Hood Cites Illness

Negro To Leave Alabama School

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—The withdrawal of Negro student James A. Hood from the University of Alabama could mean the end of his brief career as a student at the school following his stormy enrollment two months ago.

Hood's attorney announced the withdrawal and said the 20-year-old Gadsden, Ala., student was dropping out because of his physical and mental condition.

The university confirmed Hood's withdrawal Sunday and announced that a meeting of the board of trustees called to consider charges resulting from a speech Hood made in Gadsden July 16 had been canceled.

University officials had sent a letter to Hood notifying him of the charges against him and asking him to be present before the dean of men at 2 p.m. today.

The letter stipulated these charges: —That Hood accused the university of a conspiracy in setting up a news conference for him in an attempt to violate a rule against student news conferences. The rule was imposed when he was admitted to the university with another Negro student, Vivian J. Malone, 20.

—That Hood accused university officials of attempting to keep a faculty member from giving him an "A".

—That Hood accused a state official of cursing him in a dormitory.

A trustee who would not be identified said that in his opinion the charges against Hood could be grounds for refusal of the university to admit him for the fall term, which begins Sept. 20.

The trustee said that Hood still would be subject to a hearing before any decision would be made concerning his readmittance.

Hood's attorney, Arthur Shores of Birmingham, said the Negro student has been advised to avoid routine duties and activity until his condition is improved "in order to avoid a complete mental and physical breakdown."

It's Twice Yearly Event

Merchants Finish Plans For Dollar Day Thursday

East Liverpool's second Dollar Day of 1963 will be held Thursday.

The East Liverpool Merchants Association is completing plans for the semi-annual sale, a tradition of more than 40 years and always one of the highlights on the city's merchandising calendar.

Shoppers from all parts of the Tri-State area will find special values in such lines as men's, women's and children's clothing, furniture, jewelry, hardware, dry goods, appliances and many other items, the merchants association pointed out. Many families will be shopping for back-to-school clothing for their youngsters.

Participating merchants will display green and yellow pennants in their windows. Suburban housewives in Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania will be reminded of the event by telephone calls. Community bus firms will maintain service as usual until 8:30 Thursday night to help transport crowds of shoppers.

For those who drive, ELMA cited the availability of parking lots in the business district. There are two metered municipal lots on W. 6th St. near City Hall, two more at 3rd and Market Sts. and another on E. 4th St. — site of the former Ceramic Theater. There are several privately operated lots, including those on W. 5th St. and at Walnut and E. 6th Sts.

Dollar Day events date back more than 40 years. The first sale, held in 1917, was such a success that businessmen voted to hold two each year. Dollar Days have been traditional in East Liverpool since then, although they were canceled during World War II because of shortages.

The ELMA promotion committee is in charge of the event. It is comprised of: G. W. Woods, chairman, Charles Averell, Harry Barlow, Arthur Montgomery, Kenneth Montooth, Tom Phillips, George Shaw, Jack Shaw, Charles Stuart, S. A. Weiner and Dayton Allen.

Views Given On Pact For Committees

Secretary Reports To President After Khrushchev Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk urged the Senate today to ratify the limited nuclear test-ban treaty, saying it should slow the arms race without damage to the security of the United States.

Rusk testified before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee as lead-off witness in the Kennedy administration's drive for Senate approval of the U.S.-British-Soviet pact to outlaw all nuclear explosions except those underground.

When Rusk took the witness chair, he was put under oath on the motion of Republican committee members.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, said all witnesses on the treaty would be sworn.

Rusk sought to counter possible arguments against the pact that some senators might raise.

He emphasized that the signing of the treaty by East Germany will in no way imply United States recognition of the Communist East German regime.

He said East German authorities will subscribe to the treaty in Moscow, and added: "The Soviet Union may notify us of that act. We are under no obligation to accept that notification and we have no intention of doing so, but the East German regime would have committed itself to abide by the provisions of the treaty."

Rusk said: "The United States and the Soviet Union already have enough nuclear power to inflict enormous destruction on each other. Still, the search for bigger, more destructive weapons goes on.

"Yet greater armament has not demonstrably brought greater security. The treaty, if observed, should slow this spiral, without damage to our relative strength."

Rusk and President Kennedy conferred by telephone for about 25 minutes Sunday shortly after the secretary arrived in Washington.

Water Cutoff Due In Repair

Section In East End Hit By Major Break

The main East End business district and nearby homes will be without water Tuesday from 8 a. m. until noon while water department crews install a new section of pipe in a 4-inch main where a major break Sunday left some 50 homes and businesses without water most of the day.

Donald T. Duke, superintendent, said the turnoff will affect Mulberry St. from Pennsylvania Ave. to the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks, all of Monaca St. and Merlin St. and a portion of High St.

He urged residents and business to conserve water.

New Gates And Lights Placed At 2 Crossings

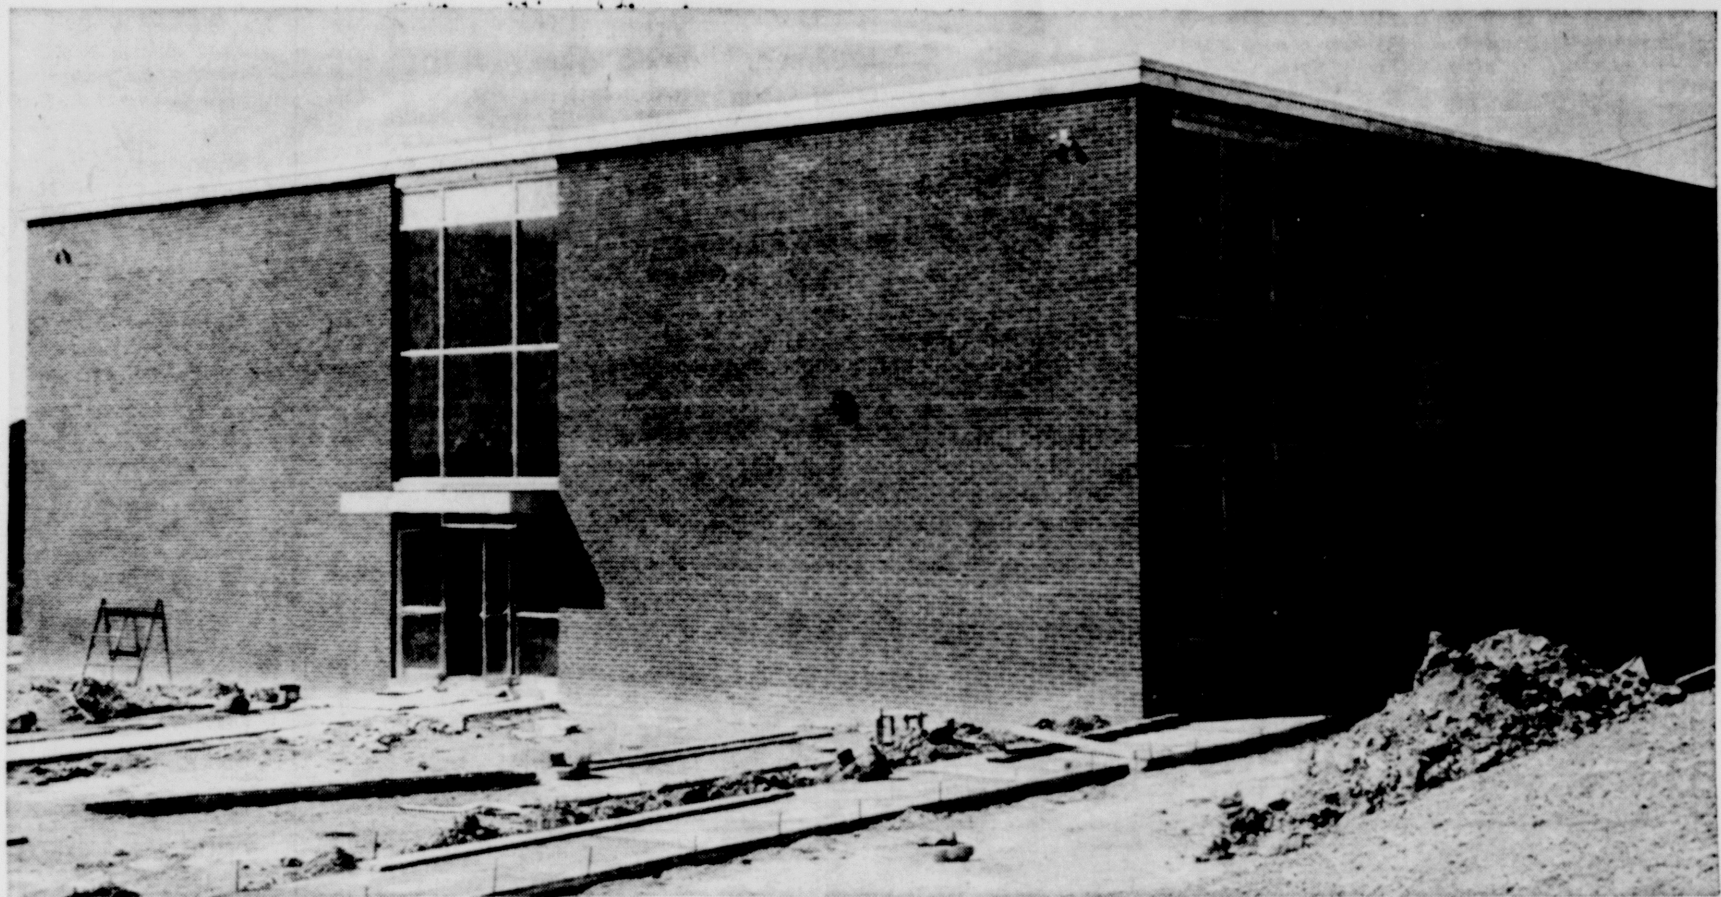

New automatic gates and flasher lights at the Broadway and Walnut St. crossings went into operation today, the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. said.

Four lights have been erected on each side of the tracks at the two crossings in the new system which will eliminate the need for crossing watchmen and leave the crossings protected at all hours, a railroad spokesman said. The two crossings formerly were protected by manually operated gates.

No change was made at the Mulberry St. crossing where a watchman will remain on duty, the spokesman added.

Risking 'The Wall'

East Germans Gamble With Death For Liberty

The author of this article is one of the hundreds of East Germans who have escaped to the West despite the Berlin wall, barbed wire, mine fields and trigger-happy guards. On the eve of the second anniversary of the wall she recalls her life behind it and the reasons people risk their lives to escape. She uses a pseudonym to protect her family and friends still in East Germany.

By KATERINA THOMAS

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—I lived for 16 months behind the Berlin wall. Except for the year my husband spent in jail during the height of Stalinist frenzy back in 1952-53, they were my worst months under communism.

Eight months ago my husband and I managed to escape. It meant leaving a large family home and garden where we had spent 24 happy married years. It meant leaving behind almost everything we owned, including the worthless sentimental things a woman treasures. It meant leaving friends with whom we shared hard and unforgettable years.

It was a sacrifice and a great risk. Other people might still escape by the route we took so I won't go into details.

But we read every few days of the dangers people run to escape. They scale the Berlin wall in a hail of bullets. They swim the icy Havel River in freezing weather. They crawl through tunnels that might cave at any moment or run across mine fields that could blow them up at any step. Some are killed by Communist border guards.

What drives people to gamble their lives in order to leave their homes?

It might sound strange to American ears, but I'm sure the chief reason is the longing for freedom to think and do what one wants. The simple freedoms that Americans take for granted are worth a life to many East Germans.

I clearly remember Aug. 13, 1961. For years my husband and I felt we should stay in East Germany. One has a responsibility to one's home and people, and problems are not solved by running away.

But we had finally decided to flee and our two children had already gone to the West. We planned to follow after a short vacation in a health resort. There we heard the news of Aug. 13.

Our hearts sank. Our escape route was blocked. It took nearly two years to find a way out.

The one good the wall did was to wake people to the horror of communism.

The announcement was prompted by almost certain possibilities that county residents will not receive tax statements until after Sept. 1, when the deadline for realizing the discounts has lapsed.

"Any taxpayer desiring to take advantage of the discount is to contact the assessor's office beforehand to learn the correct name the property is listed under and the legal description," the sheriff announced.

"The assessor will furnish him with the amount of the taxes and the page numbers that real estate and personal property are listed under," he added.

"Then the taxpayer can figure his discount himself, and mail us the information from the assessor's office — or the number of the pages and the way the property is listed."

Taxpayers will be sent receipts for payment later in the year instead of promptly, as in the past. The sheriff also asked that taxpayers be sent receipts for payment later in the year instead of promptly, as in the past.

Chester Fire Damage Seen About $3,500

A Chester couple and their seven children are homeless today as an aftermath of a fire Saturday night that completely gutted the interior of their home, causing damage estimated at about $3,500.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. James Cheuvront of Lycia Ave. was damaged heavily in a fire believed to have started from defective electrical wiring in a stairway.

It apparently was fed by containers of turpentine, paint and gasoline stored in the area, firemen said.

The blaze was spotted by a motorist on the Lawrenceville Rd. who went to the home of Floyd Wright, also of Lycia Ave. The Chester fire department was called at 9:28.

The Chester department was followed shortly by the Lawrenceville department, but the two-story frame structure was burning out of control. The fire was contained to the interior of the five-room house because of aluminum siding.

The Cheuvronts were not at home at the time of the fire as they were visiting with Cheuvront's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Cheuvront of the Gas Valley Rd.

Firemen were hampered in their efforts by lack of a close supply of water, as the Tinsionville area, has no city water.

Men Injured In Car Plunge

Two area young men are in "good" condition today in Weirton General Hospital with injuries received when their car plunged over an embankment and upset Saturday night at 11:15 near New Cumberland.

Police Chief William Webster said a sedan driven by Frank A. Luckino, 20, of 408 14th St., Wellsville, failed to negotiate a curve and crashed over a 30-foot embankment.

The accident happened on the State Route 2 grade north of New Cumberland. Luckino's south-bound auto came to rest on its hood after plunging over the embankment and rolling over.

"It's lucky they were not killed," the chief commented.

Luckino suffered a possible broken wrist, rib injuries and lacerations of the body. He is in "good" condition along with a passenger, Samuel A. Scafide, 25, of 302 W. 4th St.

Luckino's car was demolished. He was cited on a charge of failure to have his auto under control, the officer said.

Why Hold The Debate?

If it can be taken for granted that the U.S. Senate is going to ratify the nuclear test ban treaty, the question is why there should be a protracted debate.

The answer is that the debate is part of the process of deliberative government.

Its purpose is not only to enable senators to make up their minds about the proposed treaty but, more importantly in this instance, to help the citizenry understand what the treaty will do if and when it is ratified.

The established job of the political opposition is to challenge all proposals for collective action and make their backers prove their merit. Senate Republicans have a job to do and are showing every indication of being willing to do it thoroughly.

ONLY IN THIS way can Americans hope to find out what is involved in this apparent rapprochement with their cold war "enemy."

Only in this way can they learn what is behind this significant language in the preamble to the treaty.

"Proclaiming as their principal aim the speediest possible achievement of an agreement on general and complete disarmament under strict international control in accordance with the objectives of the United Nations, which would put an end to the armaments race and eliminate the incentive to the production and testing of all kinds of weapons, including nuclear weapons . . ."

This is part of the language to which dozens of governments, following the lead of the United States, Great Britain and the Soviet Union now have subscribed. It means that the nuclear test ban is intended to be one step in a long road that would lead to disarmament, if followed to the end.

THERE IS every prospect the Senate will ratify the treaty, following discussion and debate.

Thus, there is every prospect that the American people will have a thorough understanding of what has been proposed and what is likely to be accomplished.

This is the way it must be done. There is no other way in a deliberative government.

Legal And Moral

West Virginia state police have been ordered to return 15 slot machines seized in raids last month at American Legion posts in Chester and Newell.

Whether the "slots" were to be returned was a legal question for the courts to decide.

Their future is a moral question for the two Legion posts to decide.

When They Say It, Smile

The clinching argument in favor of putting up U.S. money to build a billion-dollar steel mill for India is threadbare.

If we don't do it, the Russians will.

Assuming the Russians would — they tackled the Aswan Dam for Egypt when we pulled out of that project — most of us would be willing to let them.

It would be a pleasure to watch the Indian government's disenchantment with Russian methods spread and grow. In fact, of all the ways developed so far to take the shine off the hammer and sickle, the quickest is closer acquaintanceship.

THE RUSSIAN government is open-handed only when it is talking about the future. But when the future comes, it wants something for its money far more substantial than the customary U.S. wisp of requirement of loyalty to free enterprise, freedom, self-determination and the other popular virtues.

India's steel mill would be nationalized; there is no other way to build and operate a steel mill in a country based on socialism. The United States would have nothing to gain but the tenuous prospect of reliance on its enterprise for technicians and spare parts.

In due time, on the other hand, if all went well, the Indians would be shipping steel here to be sold under U.S. prices and deep thinkers in Washington would be thinking of new schemes to ease the hard lot of steel industry employees in the United States.

Why not let Russia build the steel mill in India? And while we're at it, why not request in the future that anyone who says U.S. taxpayers should lay out another billion for this and two billion for that because if they don't the Kremlin will should smile.

You know, the way the Virginian used to make anyone smile who used that insulting name.

THIS THING of outdoing the Russkies on paper is killing us, especially when we realize the Russkies don't give away a cabbage leaf without getting something in return.

Service Plus

Winning of an international award undoubtedly will provide an added impetus to the local Lions Club's 40th anniversary plans.

It was quite an honor for both the club and Richard Walker to receive the "Leo Award". Dick was one of nine public relations officers from 472 districts in Lions International to be recognized for his work during the convention in Miami and is only the second Ohioan to have received the award.

Those who know Dick were highly pleased, but not surprised, when his name was announced originally. He always has demonstrated a capacity for doing the job in whatever he tackles.

It is men the type of Mr. Walker who make us proud of the various service groups in East Liverpool and vicinity.

Rehearsal For A Disaster

W. A. Patterson, president of United Air Lines, is alarmed at the possibility his industry may be building a disaster in overcrowded passenger planes.

He has suggested to the Civil Aeronautics Board that it should stage a simulated crash landing, preferably at sea, with a typical passenger list, in a plane as jam-packed as it would have to be to carry passengers at the cut-to-the-bone fares being proposed for overseas flights.

His point is that tests by the Federal Aviation Agency have been unrealistic because they were carried out with only able-bodied passengers able to understand English and aware they were in no real danger.

President Patterson wants a "mixed" passenger list—old, young, fat, crippled, confused, scared, irresponsible and hysterical mixed with the cream of the crop. He thinks the demonstration would be conclusive.

Planes obviously are overcrowded. They carry too many passengers for comfort when all their seats are occupied, and the aisles are too narrow for safety even when some seats are empty.

How about that "mixed" passenger list and the element of surprise needed to prove his point; how would he do that? Here's a suggestion:

Make up a passenger list of U.S. senators, representatives, their wives and their children. Tell them it's an all-expenses-paid junket to Tahiti. Circle over National Airport in Washington until everybody gets drowsy, then announce a crash landing in the Pacific and come down close to shore in the good old Potomac River. Have launches and rescue equipment waiting.

Congress would adopt a joint resolution against overcrowded airplanes as soon as everybody has been released from the hospital and just before the investigation of the hoax about Tahiti.

More Honors

More 4-H Club members have done themselves proud during the annual Columbiana County 4-H Selection Day held at Lasbon.

For some it means a trip to the State Fair at Columbus as countywide winners.

All the youngsters can take real pride in their achievements. The proper application of special skills always is to be commended.

By Truman Twill

must have mastered the art of putting people at ease.

They must know how to listen. People do not expect royalty to babble. They do not expect it to gush. They expect it to listen and to make proper responses.

Royal persons must be gracious. The age of bores and despots is over. If people want that sort of thing they encourage dictators to trample the proprieties into the mire of disrespect.

It is expected that royal persons will be well-informed and well-poised. Here again, if the people want ignoramus and feather-heads they can get them at the polls through popular voting.

The education of royalty is a setup like the United Kingdom is as stiff a challenge as parents and educators face anywhere on earth. Anyone can figure out how to train a scientist, provided the raw material is present. But how do you train royal human beings to serve other people?

What can be done to guarantee the honorable and generous conduct denoted by "noblesse oblige"—the phrase that sums up the entire function of royalty. Nobility is obligated to serve. That is its excuse for existence.

Noblesse Oblige

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Mountbatten, two well-known British parents, have decided to send their daughter Anne to a girls' school this fall, instead of having her tutored privately at home.

This duplicates a decision the Mountbattens made for another child, Charles, though it happens to be the first time under such circumstances that a girl will have gone to school with other girls instead of taking personal instruction.

The Mountbattens are at the top of the pile in Britain, which makes their decisions newsworthy. There was a similar stir when they sent Charles to a school with other kids, though he wasn't a "first." Other princes have gone to school with their subjects.

It's an interesting thing to think about — the education of royalty. What is the object of education in this instance? How should princelings and princesses be trained for their role in life?

Part of the education should be how to get along with other people. They must know how to take the tension out of the situation which always confronts royalty. They must know how to maintain their dignity without being wooden individuals. They

Kennedy Policies Stir More Opposition

By Raymond Moley

The opposition to President Kennedy's liberal policies will not fail in 1964 because of lack of organized opposition groups. Two new ones appeared the other day.

One is called BIPAC, Business and Industry Political Action Committee, which will mobilize business and industrial leaders to aid conservative candidates for Congress.

The other is the Critical Issues Council, comprised for the most part of former aides and colleagues of President Eisenhower, who will issue reports on special issues.

BIPAC fills a long-neglected need. Organized labor has had its COPE for years and has been most effective in helping to elect members of the Senate and House. In fact, it is so well organized and financed that the official Democratic party has largely turned over that part of its operation to the labor unions' political agency.

While businessmen have keenly felt the impact of Mr. Kennedy's liberal policies, they have been unable to resist at the polls.

They have made contributions to candidates at the local level and have spent large sums in maintaining representatives in Washington but there has been no united effort by them.

While the business community has almost a monopoly of the managerial talent of the nation, it has been unable or unwilling to mobilize its genius for organization in politics.

IN PART this neglect is due to the reluctance of business to engage in partisan politics. In part it's due to the concept, firmly held by so many business leaders, that a businessman makes a poor politician.

Both of these deterrents are ill-conceived. In many instances the officers of companies have openly participated in politics without losing customers. And several businessmen have been successful when they consented to run for office.

Arthur (Red) Motley of Parade Publications has labored for years to stimulate the interest of businessmen in politics — first as chairman of a committee of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, and then as president of that body.

Owing to his labors, the chamber developed courses in practical politics which have been given in hundreds of companies and communities to thousands of participants.

THE IDEA embodied in BIPAC to concentrate mainly on campaigns for the House of Representatives is entirely practical. The organization is bipartisan because there are plenty of sound and conservative Democrats as well as Republicans who need help in their districts. And to concentrate on practical organization, without taking positions on presidential candidates or writing platforms for the parties, BIPAC will not antagonize the regular party organizations.

The Critical Issues Council is a new development in the Republican Citizens Committee, which was created at the Gettysburg farm of Gen. Eisenhower in 1962.

The original purpose of the committee was most commendable, for it was designed to set up auxiliary groups in urban centers and states to help and not compete with the regular Republican organizations. But as far as publicity is concerned, this earlier purpose of the Republican Citizens Committee has been overshadowed by the new Critical Issues Council. It's no secret that this excursion into party politics is resented by the Republican membership in Congress. Thus, there is a danger of party disunity and conflict.

The Critical Issues Council is headed by Dr. Milton Eisenhower, whose views on national issues are similar to those of Eastern liberal Republicans.

THE MAJORITY of the members of the council are former members of the Eisenhower administration. They are distinguished people. But they represent an administration that has been out of office 31 months. In those months a new administration has assumed power which has propounded policies and created problems never before faced. The question arises whether the Republican policies of the Eisenhower years in the 1950s are adequate to meet the conditions of the 1960s.

Gen. Eisenhower is, no doubt, the most popular American political figure. But the elections of 1960 and 1962 proved that his popularity cannot be transferred to those formerly associated with him. Hence, the impact of this group upon the public will hardly be notable.

It's not new statements of principles that the Republican party needs. It is better organization in the districts and states. This is where BIPAC will be most useful.

Rice Costs Too Much

By Robert Eunsun

SEOUL

What's wrong with Korea? The Kisaing girl with the elaborate beehive hairdo replied without looking up from the plate she was preparing for her male guest.

"Rice cost too much," she said.

It took this attractive young woman only four words to sum up what government officials had been trying to say for days.

"People will become very angry unless something done about rice cost," she added. "You can't keep saying things better unless better soon."

Although she was no Christine Keeler, this lovely brunette with the long silver nails and eyes shaped like almonds had once been something of an influence on politics.

As second wife, or concubine, of a member of the previous administration, she had been close enough to power to know what it meant.

The military revolution which overthrew her patron's friends and forced him to return to her old profession.

"I work to support my two children," she said. "No, not better. He would be in jail anyway."

Like their Geisha sisters in Japan, Kisaing girls dress in elegant traditional costumes and entertain male guests at private parties.

The military junta under Gen. Chung Hee Park has cracked down on night life in this land that seems always to be waiting for tomorrow. So, life around the Kisaing house ends at 11 p.m. Everyone is supposed to be home and in his own bed by midnight.

To make it stick, the leaders of the military revolution imposed a curfew. The eerie wail of a siren reverberates throughout the capital at midnight and again at 4 a.m., when it's time for many to be up and off to work.

Asked how long they intend to keep the curfew in force, Prime Minister Kim Hyun-chul replied: "You forget we are only 20 miles from the front lines."

The Republic of Korea, not being a signatory to the armistice agreement of July 27, 1953, officially remains at full scale war with North Korea. Air raid instructions are displayed in government and commercial office buildings.

This awareness of danger is about the only thing that hasn't changed since the fighting came to a halt in Korea 10 years ago. The people look better, their clothes are neater, the streets seem clean and orderly and the whole outer facade reflects industry and organization.

Reactions from Koreans questioned normally followed political lines, as in the United States or anywhere else. A supporter of former president Yun Po-sun of the opposition Civil Rule Party wouldn't tell you Gen. Park is doing a good job any sooner than a Republican would praise President Kennedy for his handling of the situation in Cuba.

Disagreement Expected

By James Marlow

Both Parties Face Internal Division

WASHINGTON — "If we must disagree," said Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, as if cheering up a debating society with a fairy tale, "let's disagree without being disagreeable."

This was his message Sunday to California Democrats already fussing among themselves a year before President Kennedy runs for re-election. Southern Democrats didn't get the message. Republicans won't, either.

The Southerners are so mad at Kennedy for his civil rights efforts that Mississippi gubernatorial candidates ran last week as anti-Kennedy men and Sunday Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia said: "I'm a Democrat but I have no intention of getting out and knocking myself out to support the Kennedy administration next year."

Russell not only has voted against the President on a good part of his domestic legislative proposals but will lead the expected Southern filibuster against Kennedy's civil rights bill.

Kennedy was caught in a political revolving door on this one.

He had to be pushed into offering the bill—by direct action of Negroes North and South — and while it will cost him heavily among white Southerners it would have cost him among Northern Negroes if he hadn't.

But the Southerners will have trouble deciding which way to turn if New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is the Republicans' 1964 choice to oppose Kennedy.

Rockefeller, whose state has a large Negro population, is plugging for civil rights legislation, too. He already is taking swipes at the one man who seems to have the edge on him at this moment, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

Goldwater, idol of the conservative and far right Republicans, was recently admonished by Rockefeller, who can hardly be disturbed by the thought, that if he doesn't watch out he'll become a captive of the radical right.

The New Yorker accused the Arizona of writing off the Negro vote before the 1964 campaign begins.

Goldwater, who has made some strong statements on running the government without explaining all of them, retorted that he wasn't writing off anybody's vote and accused Rockefeller of encouraging political cannibalism.

He said Rockefeller was trying to get Republicans to eat Republicans and complained the governor was using the "guilt by association" technique in identifying him with the "radical right."

And at this very moment some of the Republican leaders in Congress have been cautious not only about the civil rights bill but about the limited nuclear test-ban treaty Kennedy recently got from Khrushchev.

While they hemmed and hawed, a Negro leader—Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People—tried to build a fire under them with a little warning.

"I am inclined to agree that the Republicans want the Negro to be free, but free somewhere over yonder."

"If they are worrying about getting Negro support, instead of carrying on a negative campaign on the civil rights bill they should adopt a positive policy and out-Kennedy the Kennedys."

While white Southerners would be confused if they had to choose between Kennedy and Rockefeller Northern Negroes will be confused if Kennedy should now go less than all-out for his civil rights bill and they have to choose in 1964 between him and a highly conservative Republican.

Yet, if Kennedy loses Southern white votes over civil rights, his nuclear test ban treaty will get him votes elsewhere, which is something the Republicans in Congress can hardly be unaware of in deciding how to vote on the treaty.

Things ought to be getting more disagreeable right along now.

The Diamond Barometer

By Isadore Barmash

Diamonds may be a girl's best friend but they also are a good sign of the times.

If demand for luxuries is a true economic barometer, as many think it is, then the economists of the United States and Europe are headed for a basic uplift. This well may be the portent of a surprising activity in diamonds, other gems, and high-priced jewelry which has been notable this year, both here and abroad.

At the National Jewelry Trade Show, much comment was heard that better times are coming, if not already here, in the industry, based upon consumers' interest in buying high-priced merchandise.

A significant increase in the demand for fine diamonds, reflecting improved economic conditions throughout the world, was cited by a spokesman for the Gemological Institute of America, non-profit educational jewelry institution.

The result has been a rising price of diamonds and a developing scarcity in sizes from one carat up, this source said.

In addition to the United States, a strong popularity has led to an "extreme" scarcity in fine diamonds of from three to as many as eight carats, in Europe, particularly in West Germany.

A leading diamond syndicate is engaged in a constant exploration of new diamond "pipes" (veins) to seek out a solution to the scarcity. One such new "pipe" was reported to have been discovered in Africa, auguring some relief to the scarcity the syndicate's spokesman said.

In the United States, all types of stores, as well as jewelers, have lagged in offering the quality of jewelry the consumer has wanted, declared Maurice Adelsheim, Jr., vice-president of Jacobs Jewelers, Minneapolis, and president of the FJA. In recent months, however, retailers have been able to successfully present better goods, he said, and improved regular business since May has led to forecasts of a 5 percent gain in business for fall.

In his own store, Mr. Adelsheim has recently made a number of sales of better diamonds, ranging in prices from $1,000 to $3,500, a development which he said was abnormal. Similar reports of improved business, and higher sales checks, were furnished by other retailers.

Scientist Raps Backers Of More Space Weapons

By HOWARD BENEDICT

AP Aerospace Writer

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP) — A government scientist today challenged critics who want more emphasis on space weapons development, saying the present U.S. space program is laying a broad base for both scientific and military operations.

Homer E. Newell, director of space science for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said:

"Those who argue that we should dispense with the frills of science and space exploration and concentrate on the necessities of military development, forget that we can't really say what the military necessities in space will be and it would be foolhardy to pretend that we can."

In a speech prepared for an artificial satellite conference at Virginia Polytechnic Institute here, Newell said:

"We do not wish to develop a Maginot Line in space, only to have it flanked by forces of greater flexibility. We need to develop in a broad way our space capability so that we will have the ability to move in any direction required by future events to meet any threats along whatever lines might develop."

Newell's defense of the space program came at a time when many defense officials and some congressmen are taking a closer look at military needs in space.

Major military space efforts are aimed at development of reconnaissance satellites by the Air Force, communications satellites by the Army, and navigation satellites by the Navy.

The Air Force is training astronauts for NASA's two-man Project Gemini orbital and rendezvous flights. Later, Air Force astronauts will fly Gemini capsules modified for military missions and the Dyna-Soar manned space glider.

Advocates of a strong military program think the United States should be working on spacecraft to spy on enemy satellites and destroy them if they are carrying nuclear bombs. Some say this nation should develop orbiting nuclear bombs of its own.

Boy, 5, Almost Loses Hand Out Car Window

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—Five-year-old William Trowbridge Jr. of Columbia Station learned a lesson Sunday—but it nearly cost him his left hand.

The boy stuck his arm out of the window of his parents' car as the vehicle was traveling on Sprague Road in Columbia Township. The hand smashed into a parked auto.

A surgeon worked 90 minutes at Southwest Community Hospital in Berea to rejoin the nearly severed hand to the boy's arm. Billy was listed in fair condition. The doctor said it would be nearly six weeks before the success of the operation could be judged.

Young Ohioans Form Group For Goldwater

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Goldwater for President movement has gained impetus in the Buckeye State with formation of a Young Ohioans for Goldwater organization.

More than 150 students representing 27 colleges formed the group Sunday and said they would support Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., for the GOP presidential nomination.

Charles London of Columbus, an Ohio State University student, was elected president of the organization.

Rep. John Ashbrook, R-Ohio, spoke to the group on the importance of Ohio in the 1964 presidential race.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Jose Has Talent, Will Work On TV

A few eyebrows were raised when it was announced that Jose Ferrer had signed for two TV guest shots this fall. He plays an escape artist on ABC's "Greatest Show on Earth" and goes on one of Danny Kaye's CBS hours.

"For some reason or other, the word seems to have gotten around that I won't do TV. It's not true. I'm as eager as anyone to get some of that look," says Jose. Several years ago he produced and acted the title role of "Cyrano" for NBC's "Producers Showcase," but that was like Helen Hayes doing "Victoria Regina." Other TV producers probably figured Jose was just slumming.

HE ALSO DID A "Theater," but the character was a cowboy fighting for survival against the elements and an Indian he had bumped into. At that time, however, the TV screen was awash with cowboys and Indians, so it's possible no one recognized Jose.

In 1959 Jose did turn down the role of Benito Mussolini in a "Play House 90" version of the Italian dictator's violent death.

"I just felt I wasn't big enough physically to bring it off," Jose explains. "They got Nehemiah Persoff, and he was just right."

JOSE IS ONE of Hollywood's rare breeds who believes he is being paid for his brains and talent, and he wants to give his employer full value. Before doing the escape artist for "Greatest Show on Earth," Jose was offered the role of the head of a family of circus fliers in the same series.

"I said no to that one. I didn't think I was right for it. Gilbert Roland is now doing it, and he will be perfect," Jose says.

This sort of honesty is suspect in a town filled with struggling hams. The word soon gets around that there is some kind of nut who is hard to get along with.

WHEN COLUMBIA was casting "Came Mutiny," Jose was up for Capt. Queeg, but he insisted that Humphrey Bogart would make the best Queeg and that he (Jose) should play prosecutor Greenwald.

Last year Jose appeared as the sympathetic police commissioner in the movie, "Nine Hours to Rama," and it was the first work he had done in four years. Actually, his portrayal of the vicious Turkish officer in "Lawrence of Arabia" was done first, but "Lawrence" was released after "Rama."

"My agent said there was a part for me in 'Lawrence,' but after reading the 300-page script, I found I was not on 297 pages of it," Jose recalls, with a sardonic grin.

HE TOOK IT just the same and turned a bit part into one of the picture's conversation pieces.

During those four years of unemployment, Jose was in negotiation with MGM's TV department to produce a series based on Agatha Christie's bumptious detective, Hercule Poirot. He would have been Poirot, too.

"I don't know what happened to it, really. We never got to shoot a pilot film. Everything in TV seems to be done through committee, and I don't know how to work with 12 people," says Jose.

"THE STRANGE THING is," Jose adds, "that hardly anyone believes I was out of work four years. They kept seeing me in 'Moulin Rouge' and 'Cyrano de Bergerac' each time those old movies ran on TV and assumed in some way that I was working."

Jose's TV appearances early this fall with "Greatest Show on Earth" and Danny Kaye no doubt will inspire other producers to come knocking on his door, because the demand for guests next season is going to be heavy.

By that time, however, Jose will be in New York rehearsing in a Broadway musical adapted from Terence Rattigan's "Sleeping Prince." It's to be called "The Girl Who Came to Supper" and stars Florence Henderson with Jose.

If it's a hit, he can forget Hollywood's cold shoulder.

Rules Of City Trash Pickup Will Be Aired

Council will meet in caucus session tonight at 8 to air recent complaints that the incinerator department has declined to pick up certain types of trash in its semi-monthly rounds, particularly grass cuttings and hedge trimmings.

Safety-Service Director Robert Owen, Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper and Incinerator Supt. John Melvin have been invited to meet with Council in the session called by the street committee.

Councilmen said they feel the principal cause of recent complaints has been the fact that no legislation or formal rules exist defining the types of material that will be picked up — or not picked up — in the city's collection service.

In recent weeks, some householders have complained that incinerator department employees have declined to pick up items such as grass cuttings and hedge trimmings. The incinerator department's position is that items of that sort never were picked up except in the annual two-week citywide spring cleanup drive.

Councilman S. James Welch, a member of the street committee, said Council and the administration may have to agree on a formal determination of what constitutes "trash" within the meaning of the city's services and then spell out the definition in legislation or formal rules for the department.

Other members of the street committee are Kenneth C. Berg, chairman, and Floyd Murray. Welch said the street committee discussed the trash situation in its weekly inspection tour Saturday morning and decided to call the caucus to clarify the question.

NEW YORK (AP)—Michael Rampino, 28, his son Frank, 4, and brother-in-law, Richard Malfitano, 12, went fishing off Brooklyn Station, New York 11, N.Y. Saturday. Their luck was lousy, no matter how you look at it.

Rampino, who hadn't caught a fish all day, hooked a wad of paper. Excitedly, he reeled it in — and unrolled 49 $100 bills.

After a quick trip home to talk it over with his wife, Rampino took the bills to a police station. Detectives examined them briefly and gave him the word: "Counterfeit."

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—An all-night search for two young playmates ended tragically as the grandfather of one of the youngsters found their bodies locked inside a clothes dryer.

A. D. Cummings found his grandson, David Wayne McClain, 6, and a playmate, Rickey Lee Spann, 3, inside the death trap early Sunday.

Critic Jailed By Junta In South Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—South Korean opposition leaders charged today that the arrest of former military Premier Song Yo-chang, an outspoken critic of strongman Gen. Chung Hee Park, was politically inspired.

Political tensions rose in the capital after retired Lt. Gen. Song's seizure Sunday, three days after he published a letter calling on Park to give up plans to run for president in the October election.

The military junta charged Song with responsibility for the killing of students and citizens during the uprising against President Syngman Rhee's regime in April 1960.

Authorities also revived an old charge accusing him of ordering the execution without trial of an army colonel during the Korean war.

Another former premier, Huh Chung, a leader of civilian opposition to Park's regime, said Song's arrest "so close to the election makes me wonder if the government has a hidden motive."

Huh also criticized U.S. policy toward Park and called on the United States to reaffirm "its traditional principle" that military men should stay out of politics.

Metropolitan Sets Rentals For Negroes

NEW YORK (AP)—The Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., the nation's biggest landlord with 34,170 tenants in East and West Coast housing projects, says it will rent to Negroes and other non-whites.

The Metropolitan stamp came in a little-noticed joint statement by the company and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, reaffirming Metropolitan's "long - established policy of nondiscrimination."

Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, called the statement a major breakthrough in the Negroes' drive to get good housing.

"We are ready to go down the line on this," a Metropolitan spokesman said Sunday. "If a Negro is a qualified tenant and there is a vacancy for him, he will be given an apartment whether it is in Alexandria (Va.) or Parkchester (an area in the Bronx) or anywhere else."

Metropolitan operates the Parkfairfax in Alexandria, the 38,000-person Parkchester (where one Negro family is scheduled to move in), the Parklarea in Los Angeles, Parkmerced in San Francisco, and Peter Cooper Village and Stuyvesant Town in New York.

All the Metropolitan projects have long waiting lists of prospective tenants. He said some Negroes waiting for a vacancy at the all-Negro Riverfront in Harlem may be offered apartments in other New York developments.

Thermostat Placing Aired

Don't confuse your thermostat if you want your heating system to deliver top comfort when next winter's winds begin to howl.

If you're remodeling an old-fashioned heating system and installing a modern hydronic (hot water) system, you'll get top performance from the system by taking extra precautions with the placement of the thermostat.

Modern thermostats are extremely sensitive and precise. For that reason, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau of Chicago, they must be placed so they can accurately assess weather information.

The control should never be more than 5 feet or less than 3 feet from the floor. An acceptable height is 4 to 4 1/2 feet, the bureau points out.

Always avoid the following locations, says the bureau:

1. — An outside wall or any wall that is cold on the other side.
2. — An inside wall closer than one stud space to outside wall.
3. — Where cold currents from outside or inside cold rooms can strike.
4. — Bathrooms, kitchens, hallways.
5. — Near television sets, lamps, or where heat might affect it.
6. — Walls near or over a chimney.
7. — Where sun can strike it.
8. — On walls exposed to heat from other side such as cooking ranges, water heaters, automatic washer, dryer, etc.
9. — In concealed spaces such as closets, behind doors, or where there is poor circulation.
10. — At the foot of a stairway.

Here's Solution To One Problem

Question: We have moved into an old house and find that there are many openings around the bathtub, the corners and at the floor joints.

These openings are at places where there are wall tiles. Some of the tiles are loose, although still clinging to the wall. Appreciate your advice on how to fill these spaces to prevent damage from water.

Answer: The openings around the top of the bathtub and at corners and floor joints should be sealed with a waterproof plastic or other type of caulking compound. There are many good brands on the market for this special purpose.

The compound is applied directly from the tube by maintaining a steady pressure while it is being guided along a joint. Let the compound set for 10 or 15 minutes, then smooth it out with a wooden stick of the type used in ice cream pops or supplied with containers of coffee or other beverages. The tiles can be reset by applying a special tile cement.

In both these cases, all loose mortar or other crumbling material should be removed before the new compound and cement are applied. Read the instructions on the tube of the particular compound you buy to see whether painting is recommended.

GOP Leader Doubts Tax Cut Action By Congress For 1963

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington: NO TAX CUT? Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois doubts that Congress will get around to cutting taxes this year.

TRADE: A joint congressional committee to deal with international trade problems has been recommended by assistant Democratic Senate leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

State To Open Offers On Surfacing Bridge

The State Highway Department said today bids will be opened at Columbus Wednesday, Sept. 4, at 11 a. m. for blacktop surfacing of the state-owned East Liverpool-Chester Bridge.

The span's road width is 21 feet and the length of the job is 1,873 feet, the state's announcement said.

At the same time, bids will be opened on two other county projects — blacktop resurfacing of 2,112 feet of State Route 7 in Wellsville and blacktop resurfacing of just under a mile of State Route 39 in Salineville.

Here Are Tips Of Interest To Home Owner

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

From various sources come these bits of information of interest to the home owner:

More than 50 leading paint brush manufacturers are now offering sash and trim brushes with tapered nylon filaments.

It is said that this type of brush resists water and maintains its resilience through prolonged use with water-based paints. According to one school of thought, natural bristles tend to soak up water in these paints, becoming floppy and losing their shape. The new brushes also are said to eliminate "dipping", the term used by painters for the release of too much paint the instant a brush touches a surface.

Prefinished wood siding for homes is now receiving a marketing test.

A major lumber company is selling the material only in the Omaha, Neb., area. The finish coat is a baked-on acrylic resin with a satin appearance. The claim, backed by a written warranty, is that the siding will not require painting for at least seven years and that the factory-applied paint film will not peel or blister at any time. National distribution is planned when demand and production permit.

A recent national survey shows that when it comes to adding an extra room to a house the bedroom is the most frequent addition. When it comes to remodeling a room that is already there, the kitchen is the most popular target for modern improvements.

Some home builders are making a discovery: women are yearning for the return of the old-fashioned pantry. A house with a walk-in pantry, with plenty of room for canned goods, jars, etc., makes an instant hit with female homemakers. This type of pantry can do wonders to offset the space handicaps of a small kitchen, and gets plenty of appreciation, too, when combined with a kitchen of any size.

Ever notice the big difference between the old lumber yard down by the railroad tracks and the modern, one-stop building products dealer? In the old days, you bought your lumber at the yard, your paint someplace else, your plumbing repair materials in a third place, and so on. Today, most lumber yards have a kind of supermarket setup, where you can purchase virtually anything you need to repair, remodel or refurbish.

Officers Push Probe Of Cincinnati Slaying

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police waited today for pathologists' reports and kept questioning youngsters in their effort to solve the brutal and baffling murder of blonde Patricia Ann Rehbock.

The 15-year-old high school cheerleader's body was found early Friday on a back lot in suburban Greenhills. She had been strangled and her skull was fractured, but her purse was found nearby and she had not been sexually molested.

Police said they had no solid leads in the case.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Scouters Will Meet

Sales May Hit Record Mark

CLEVELAND (AP) — If the metal working industry does as well in the second half as it did the first, Steel magazine forecasts today that 1963 sales may hit a record $174 billion.

The magazine also predicted that the decline in steel ingot production soon will stop. Some producers already have reported a slight pickup in demand.

Metalworking sales this year will total $170 billion and could reach the higher figure with a little nudge, Steel said. Metalworking managers throughout the country foresee the rosy picture as a survey the publication made last year.

What is the reason for the optimistic outlook over second half sales?

The magazine said it is based on these favorable factors:

—Steel inventories built in anticipation of a strike are not oppressive since the buildup was moderate and steel consumption continues to be high.

—New models are expected to extend the strong demand for autos; public psychology is optimistic, and construction, a big employer and a big user of material, is going strong.

—Business momentum has been increasing—and this forward motion has a snowballing effect.

Last week's steel-making operations of about 56 per cent of official capacity are approaching the level at which an upturn will start, Steel said. Output this week, however, will be less than the 1.74 million tons steel estimated the industry poured last week, it added.

Despite the decline in ingot output, the publication said, steel's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting grade scrap rose to $26.67 a gross ton, up 34 cents over the previous week.

Search Pressed For Lost Plane

CONNEVILLE, Ind. (AP) — An air and land search resumed today over three states for five members of a Muncie family whose plane apparently crashed Friday. But possibilities of finding any survivors seemed to be fading.

A Civil Air Patrol spokesman said, however, "We still have hopes that, out of the five, somebody's still alive."

Missing were Dr. George E. McCoy, 45; his wife, Mildred, 40; and their three sons, George, 18; David, 13; and James, 3.

Searchers in Eastern Indiana Sunday covered almost 7,400 square miles from the Ohio River to north of Muncie. Similar efforts were going on in Ohio and parts of Kentucky along the flight route.

McCoy and his family took off from Gallipolis near the southern tip of Ohio Friday evening en route to Muncie via Cincinnati.

Man Termined Critical In Beaver Wounding

BEAVER FALLS — A Beaver County man remained in critical condition today in Providence Hospital, where he was admitted after being wounded by a gunshot in his home.

Shot in the left hip early Saturday was Cliff Robinson, 65, of Beaver Falls. John Hayes, 36, of Beaver Falls, was arrested later in the day in connection with the shooting.

Police are withholding charges against Hayes pending the outcome of Robinson's wound.

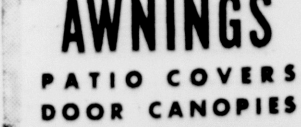

Airman On Leave

More Ideas Advanced On Attractive Fencing

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Most people want privacy, even when they have only a tiny plot of ground surrounding their home.

"We love our house, but our neighbor's backyard looks like a junk heap," writes a woman, "and everytime we sit with friends on our lawn, she has her wash blowing in our faces. My husband says it would cost too much to screen their yard out with trees, as we would need to get some six feet or taller if we'd make a hedge. Is there a better solution?"

Wooden fences do not need to look like hate walls. An attractive basket weave style fence made with wide boards and 2 by 4s woven through vertically could be pretty, and you could plant a few fast-growing trees in strategic spots to soften the look.

Louvered designs with the boards placed in a vertical position have become popular in recent years. It is a good fence where you do not wish to shut out cool breezes, but would still like privacy. The same louver idea may be worked out horizontally.

Some people like woven fences, made of saplings wired together, but neighbors sometimes resent them.

If you want to have a fence higher than funds permit for materials, you could place horizontal boards on uprights, starting the boards about two feet above the ground.

Foliage could be planted below taking up the slack left by the space and softening the lines of it. If you adopt this method, consider getting some of the inexpensive tiny evergreens in bulk to use as a border.

Another outdoor problem is this one:

"We'd like to do a little patio on the side of our house. My husband says he doesn't mind doing the work, and could do it in the fall. But just about anything worthwhile we want to do seems expensive. Bricks and flagstone would make the cost prohibitive as we would need to put a cement foundation down first. A wood deck wouldn't go with our fieldstone house," writes a new home owner.

A cement foundation alone could do the trick as one couple discovered. When he had poured the cement, he decided to try an experiment based on an Oriental idea he had seen done with sand in a yard.

He took a rake and threaded a wavelike pattern down the almost-dry length of the concrete, matching the entire area into a uniform series of the waves. He decided not to use flagstone, and as a matter of fact decorated the little patio in an Oriental theme with wind-chimes hanging from house overhang, potted white pines, borders of bright flowers.

An indoor problem, from a reader:

"We have a handsome carved newel post in a home that is being torn down to make room for a road. It will fit into our new home, but everyone advises taking it with us. My husband says it will just be another piece of baggage that will wind up in the cellar. I've heard people have these posts made into lamps. Do they stain or decorate them? This one is mahogany."

A very pretty grained wood would be used as it is. Some people add an eagle to the base of the lamp, giving an old look. But you can add a motif more suited to your furnishings, and in balance with the size of the post.

Man, 29, Hurt In Auto Crash

A district man received minor injuries in a collision on the Y. & O. Rd. near Glenmoor Saturday, one of three area mishaps reported by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon. Officers said there were no accidents Sunday.

Ralph Ross, 29, of Lisbon St. Ext. received abrasions of the forehead in a two-car collision on the Y. & O. Rd. near Lee's Market between Substation and Glenmoor early Saturday afternoon.

Ross was treated at City Hospital.

The patrol said Ross was headed west, rounding a curve, when his 1957 coach collided with a 1963 sedan driven by Dorothy Woods, 40, of R. D. 2, who had pulled out of the parking lot at the market.

Ross was charged with speeding and the woman was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way. Neither she nor a passenger, Pamela Woods, 9, was hurt, officers said.

Homer Hickman, 55, of R. D. 2 was cited Saturday night after his car and another collided on Substation Rd. near Route 30.

Hickman was headed west about 9:20 p. m. when his car collided with an oncoming auto driven by Robert Taghenhorst, 22, of Glenmoor.

Neither driver was hurt and damage was minor, according to officers, who cited Hickman for driving left of center.

Moderate damage resulted in a collision between cars operated by Joseph Little, 16, and Jean Freer, 22, both of Columbiana, on County Rd. 423 a half mile west of Route 14 Saturday night.

Little rounded a curve on the wrong side and his car struck the oncoming auto of the woman. Little was cited into traffic court at Lisbon.

Also killed in the accident was State Racing Commissioner Eugene Frederick. His funeral will be Wednesday in Charleston.

A witness to the crash, Air National Guard Sgt. David Dorsey, said the craft was making a routine approach to the airfield when its left wing dipped and the plane spun out of control.

Wright and Frederick were on their way to Shenandoah Downs at Charles Town for a hearing on charges of racing violations.

How To Play It Cool Without Conditioning

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

There is no doubt that people who live in the suburbs or in the country suffer less from the heat than those who live in the city, unless of course the city dweller can afford the luxury of air conditioning.

Nevertheless, the suburbanite can reduce the temperature in his house and enjoy after-dark comfort by taking advantage of a few small cardinal principles of cooling. The cost can be measured in cents, not in dollars.

The first step is to douse all the shrubbery around the house with the garden hose. Every green leaf on a tree or shrub is a miniature cooling system and after the sun has set the evaporation taking place on every leaf makes itself felt in the house.

Temperatures can be reduced as much as 15 to 20 degrees when the windows are opened after the sprinkling. It goes without saying, that after the house has been cooled by night temperatures, all windows and doors should be shut, blinds drawn and the cooler atmosphere maintained during the heat of the day.

The oldtimers knew all about taking advantage of what nature had to offer. I will never forget one time when I had to call on a wealthy old farmer living in Kansas. The heat was so intense that you could literally fry an egg on the sidewalk. The house this man lived in was brick, with a copper roof and shutters on all the windows.

The house appeared closed up as I rang the front doorbell, but when the door was opened, I stepped into a chilly atmosphere. This was long before air conditioning was invented, but I soon saw the answer. In a large washing tub stood a 50-pound cake of ice covered with a wet sheet. Behind it was an electric fan and the breeze from it was blowing over the sheet and filling the house with cool air.

Fireplace Brick Require Great Care In Cleaning

Few things detract from a living room quite as much as smudged and sooty bricks along the top edge of the fireplace opening.

They are so easy to clean that there is little excuse for leaving them in such a condition, but many a home owner has tried various formulae recommended by his friends or neighbors, which resulted in a worse appearance than existed before he commenced operations.

To begin with, brick is a very porous material. This applies to the ordinary run of brick, known as common brick, much more than it applies to the hard-burned yellow or tapestry brick — and most fireplaces these days are built with a facing of common brick. Therefore, caution must be exercised in the treatment of them.

Acids and detergents will clean brick if they are properly applied and a thorough job done by a person who knows what he is doing, but in many cases the use of them results only in diluting the soot and tar deposit on the front of the fireplace, thus allowing it to soak deeply into the brick and spread to the surrounding surface as well. It is not exaggerating to say that full half of the time this is what happens.

If you have a stained and soot-covered fireplace, the safe method is to use a coarse wire brush and scrub the surface while it is dry. This takes time, but it is a job that will put a new face on the brick and it is well worthwhile.

It will not spread the soot or tar deposits and there is no chance of diluting them and allowing them to soak deeply into the porous material on which you are working.

If the bricks you scrub look too new in comparison to the others which were not soot-covered, a very light going over for the whole surface will soon remedy that.

Dresden Fire Damages Car

Lack of an air filter was blamed for an auto fire Sunday afternoon that damaged a city motorist's 1956 auto.

Firemen said insulation on the hood and paint on the car owned by James Kidder, 410 Elm St., were damaged when a carburetor without the filter backfired at an ice cream store on Dresden Ave. The alarm was received at 5:30 p. m.

Firemen also responded to three other minor alarms yesterday.

They were called to Church St. at 12:45 p. m. to quell a grass and brush fire which they said was started when a boy threw a firecracker. Three youngsters were questioned, Fireman Merle McShane, acting assistant chief, said.

The department was called to the home of Francis Poynter, 410 W. 4th St., at 4:22 p. m. when his living room filled with smoke. Firemen said, however, they were unable to find any trace of a fire.

They said the house was overfused with 30-ampere fuses, one of which had blown out, and advised Poynter to check with an electrician.

Firemen checked the Rapport Building at E. 6th and Washington St. at 10:17 p. m. after a janitor said he believed he could smell smoke in the Household Finance Co. office on the second floor.

Firemen said they checked all of the building, including a third floor section rented by the D. M. Ogilvie & Co., but were unable to find any fire.

Innocent Plea Filed By Man On Gun Death

Hollow Rock Series Closes; $19,000 Given Missionaries

BEAVER — William Lewis, 53, of nearby White Township entered a not guilty plea when arraigned Saturday night before Justice of the Peace Joseph Gerace of Rochester Township on a murder charge in connection with the shotgun slaying of a 42-year-old Mahoning County man Saturday morning at Lewis' home.

Lewis was arraigned on a charge of murdering Joseph Graham, 42, who had addresses in both Niles and Warren. A preliminary hearing will be held later this week. The defendant is in Beaver County Jail.

Beaver County Coroner John A. Colavincenzo said Mr. Graham died of a shotgun blast in the chest.

The murder charge was filed by Cpl. Peter Nofianos of the Beaver Falls barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police. He was assisted by Ross Keeler, White Township police chief, and County Detectives Russell Meskow and Steve Mihalic.

Lewis told authorities Mr. Graham entered his home about 8 a. m. Saturday in the company of three other men. He said Mr. Graham began to curse him and when he was ordered to leave he refused.

Lewis said Mr. Graham and his two companions apparently had been drinking. He said all were strangers to him.

A neighbor heard the shot and called police, who found Mr. Graham's body just outside the door of the house. The victim was identified by papers in his wallet.

The annual 10-day series of services closed Sunday night at the Hollow Rock Camp Meeting after the traditional missionary rally in which more than $19,000 was raised.

Hollow Rock supports 19 missionaries in foreign fields. Principal speakers at the missionary rally were Dr. William Gilla m, vice president of the Oriental Missionary Society, and Rev. James Lentz of the World Gospel Mission.

The association also announced that the evangelists for the 1964 series will be Rev. Lentz, of Marion, Ind., the Rev. Harold Loman of South Carolina and Dr. J. C. McPheeter of Wilmore, Ky.

The final sermon Sunday night was delivered by the Rev. Paul Uhrig of Columbus.

The tabernacle was filled for the service, which included music by a large choir and special numbers on the trumpet by Rev. Uhrig's wife.

In a Missionary Day service Friday, the speaker was Dr. Elmer Kilbourne, a third generation missionary to Korea. He is home on furlough after completing three terms in the field as a social and relief worker.

Mrs. Mamie Headland was children's leader for the camp series which began on Aug. 1.

Miss Lavetta E. Serrot was teen-agers' director. Music was under the direction of Prof. Marvin G. Dean of Upland, Ind.

Other camp speakers included Dr. John R. Church of Winston-Salem, N. C., and Dr. Lawrence Hicks of Chattanooga.

The Rev. Paul Brooks of Chester is president of the Official Board.

The Hollow Rock Camp Meeting Association will hold its annual meeting in the fall.

Backing Auto Hurts Leg Of City Youth, 17

A 17-year-old West End youth suffered minor injuries Saturday afternoon when his leg was pinned against a parking meter stand on St. Clair Ave. by a backing auto, police reported.

The backing 1962 sedan of John S. Duffy, 75, of 205 Leander Dr., Chester, pinned the leg of Daniel Painter, 223 W. 8th St., officers reported.

Timed at 4:40 p. m., the mishap occurred on St. Clair Ave. about 40 feet off W. 6th St., officers said.

Painter was treated at City Hospital for contusions of the left leg.

The youth told police he was talking with James Pollock, 675 Lincoln Ave., when Duffy's backing car pinned his leg against the meter. Duffy told officers he was parking his auto and did not know of the mishap until Pollock advised him.

A 45-year-old woman motorist suffered a possible whiplash injury of the neck in another mishap Saturday at 5:12 p. m. on Dresden Ave., police said.

The collision involved a 1962 sedan driven by John Sholtis, 48, of Euclid and a 1961 model convertible operated by Stanley Sliver, 24, of Warren, officers said.

Sholtis' wife complained of a possible whiplash injury following the mishap, police said.

The Euclid driver said he made a quick stop because a traffic signal changed suddenly. Then his car was hit from the rear by Sliver's, he said.

The Warren driver told police he did not anticipate the sudden stop and when he applied his brakes he was unable to stop quickly because of gravel on the pavement.

The collision damaged the bumper, trunk and splash pan of the Sholtis car and the right headlights of the Sliver car, police said.

Flames Level Popular Conneaut Lake Club

CONNEAUT LAKE, Pa. — A popular Conneaut Lake night club burned to the ground Sunday.

Flames were shooting through the roof of the two-story frame Cow Shed when the first of some 100 firemen arrived on the scene.

There was little chance of saving the building, a remodeled barn. Firemen concentrated on preventing the blaze from spreading to a nearby steak house and cottages.

Two firemen suffered minor injuries when a fuel oil tank exploded. They were treated on the scene.

State police started an investigation to determine what caused the fire.

Lausche Unconvinced On Nuclear Test Ban

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, is far from convinced the nuclear test ban treaty is in the best interests of the United States and says if called upon to ballot now, he would vote "no."

The Senate must approve the treaty by a two-thirds margin for it to be ratified. He will reserve his final judgment "until I hear all the testimony," Lausche told 1,000 members of the United Hungarian Societies of Cleveland Sunday in Euclid Beach Park.

New Charges Eyed

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Police may file more serious charges today against Albert Reid, 42, of Bluffton, who already had been charged with shooting with intent to kill. Reid was arrested at a Bluffton trailer court Aug. 5 after an argument that led to the wounding of Robert Bensman, 31, of Toledo. Bensman died Saturday night in Lima's Memorial Hospital.

What Does NSM Mean to You?

NSM stands for National Selected Morticians, a non-profit organization of over 700 bona fide, independently owned mortuaries located in the U.S., Canada and a number of foreign countries. Founded in 1917, NSM is a well established, international organization of funeral directors.

A funeral home belonging to NSM is your personal guarantee that the owner is pledged to the highest ethical standards as prescribed by NSM, and must maintain them in practice. NSM membership is by invitation, and only firms operating "bona fide" establishments are eligible to receive this invitation. To qualify, a funeral home must have their own licensed personnel, provide complete services and have their own building and equipment to render these services. They must operate in accord with fair business practices, including the open pricing on services in plain, understandable figures.

How ARE NSM STANDARDS MAINTAINED?

Every NSM member is inspected regularly by an impartial, fully qualified investigator. The NSM membership invitation is extended to a firm subject to review and approval by the Board of Control. In order to remain an NSM member, every firm has to maintain high standards of service.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Parents Should Be Calm During Danger

When the baby begins to climb, creep and move about under his own steam, he may go to perilous places and find small dangerous things, some of which he may put into his mouth. An adult seeing him face these dangers may naturally shout at him, dash toward him and force the object from his grasp. Suppose the child were on top of a chair. Startled by the adult's sudden excitement, he might fall. If he had just seized some dangerous object, the fall could be still more hazardous.

Or suppose you see the toddler with sharp pointed scissors or a kitchen knife. If you shriek at him or dash toward him, he may run away with it or accidentally cut himself.

OR IF YOU think he has put a pin or button into his mouth, you may try to seize him and remove it. But, in his excitement, the child may swallow it. On having had such an object forced from his mouth before, he may hold it there the more tenaciously and try to escape your interference.

A baby sitter or an older brother or sister may incline to handle such situations similarly unless warned not to do so.

In all such cases of threatened danger to the young child, a few simple rules should be observed: Do nothing and say nothing which might startle the child or cause him to escape or resist your rescue efforts.

Instead of shrieking at the tot who has climbed to a dangerous place or rushing to him, go to him quietly, calmly, gently to give him protection. Never jerk away the dangerous thing he has or force a small object from his grasp.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My wife has a close friend who, in my opinion, is a nut.

This filbert is a strong believer in mental telepathy, which is all right with me, but it's NOT all right with me when she makes a nervous wreck out of my wife because of some of her far-out ideas.

Last night — or I should say this morning at 3:05 a.m. — the nut called my wife on the telephone and asked, "Are you okay, Min?" Naturally my wife was scared out of her wits, getting a call at such an hour. We have a boy in the service and we thought something had happened to him.

The nut said, "I just had a dream that you were in a terrible accident and I'm so relieved to know you are okay. Now I can sleep."

Well, maybe she could sleep, but my wife and I were up all night.

This isn't the first time she has scared my wife with her hocus pocus. Please tell me what you think ought to be done?—MEL.

Dear Mel: No friend calls at 3:05 a.m. to ask if "you're all right." There is something punitive about the woman's behavior and your wife should not hesitate to tell her friend that from now on she doesn't wish to hear any more on the subject.

Warped Thinker

Dear Ann: I'm 18 and leaving for college in September. I haven't dated much because my mother believes all boys are interested in only one thing. She has harped so long on the evils of sex that I'm sure she is mentally ill on the subject.

Recently I started to go with a fellow who is tops in every way. Wendell is two years ahead of me in school. The only thing my mother can find wrong with Wendell is that he is a junior at the college I plan to attend. She says I'm asking for trouble if I get interested in a home town boy and then go off to college with him.

I'm a serious student and intend to get as much out of college as possible. I've always been trustworthy and her reasoning makes no sense to me. If you think Mother has a valid point, please tell me. If you think she's wrong, please tell HER, so she'll get off my back.—LOTTIE.

Dear Lottie: If a girl is going to goof off at college it doesn't much matter if the boys are home grown or not. Your attitude toward schooling will determine how well you do. And your attitude sounds excellent. The root of your problem appears in the last sentence of your first paragraph.

Hasty Wedding

Dear Ann: I don't know if that letter signed "Al's Mistress" came from Pittsburgh but there is an identical case here and I want to tell you what happened.

Eight days after your letter appeared in the paper this couple invited several friends to their wedding. We all knew these two have been sharing an apartment for years. Our group has been talking about it and laughing our heads off.

Even if that letter came from some other city the situation was close enough so that at least one gal got the fellow to marry her — and darned fast, too. I say three cheers for you, Annie old kid.—SIDELINE SAMMY.

Dear Sammy: Thank you for those cheers. And now that they're married why don't you and your group talk about something else?

Confidentially

TO CAN'T WIN FER LOSIN': Of course you can't. And why should you, with those alley cat tactics?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Folks: We all buy potatoes. Baking potatoes, salad potatoes or new potatoes.

I have found out that potatoes do grow "eyes."

I have also found out — after experimenting for years with all kinds of potatoes — that when a potato grows an "eye" the potato starts to shrivel. This means the potato shrinks and the outside skin gets old — just as we do.

When you see a potato growing that "eye" and looking up at you, take your fingernail and pop that growth off. The potato will not shrivel and get pithy as quickly as it would if you left the "eye" growing.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When cutting margarine or butter, did you know that you can tear off a small piece of wax paper, place it over the edge of your paring knife and then cut the butter and it will not stick to the knife, but will divide beautifully? Try it.

MARTIN ADAMS.

DEAR HELOISE: I make our own doughnuts. Sometimes I use a doughnut recipe and sometimes I use canned biscuits by cutting them with scissors.

Recently I learned a new trick. I put some whole cloves in the fat in my deep fry before frying them. It gives them quite a different flavor and the children love them.

BEVERLEY FORD.

DEAR HELOISE: I have just handwashed my knit skirt and a hung it up with clothespins. The skirt is too long. Now what in the world do I do?

MARIAN.

DEAR MARIAN: NEVER, NEVER, NEVER, hang knit clothes... especially hand knits... by clothespins.

Before you wash a skirt, lay it out on wrapping paper and draw a line around it, making an outline of the skirt. Then wash the skirt carefully as per directions that came with it. After gently squeezing (NEVER WRING, this ruins the threads and gets the garment out of shape), lay it back on the paper and stretch it to fit that exact pattern you have marked.

Take your rolling pin or a milk bottle, and roll it as if you were rolling a pie crust. This is usually sufficient. Saves ironing.

If it is not, take a steam iron and go over it later, but always keep your original pattern.

Honey, rewet your skirt and use this method.

HELOISE.

Letter Of Laughter

DEAR HELOISE: For those women who have squeaky hinges and cannot find the oil... I just grab my liquid shampoo and squirt a few drops into the hinge. It works.

BETTY DILLON.

DEAR HELOISE: Instead of serving plain old round or square waffles, try cutting them in pie-shape form!

My family eats them twice as quickly by putting jam, etc., on them. Sure changes my breakfast plate!

East Liverpool takes the day off today and will await the outcome of tonight's New Castle-Washington battle. East Liverpool faces the winner of this game.

Both New Castle and Washington have been beaten by the Pottery City nine.

EAST LIVERPOOL returns to action Tuesday at 5:30 p. m. at Alexander Field one victory away from its first Regional title.

A win Tuesday would send East Liverpool to the Divisional playoffs at Washington, Pa.

Pony Stars Top N. Castle, Wash.

An outstanding no-hit game by Jeff Hall opened East Liverpool's regional bid in a 5-0 victory over New Castle Saturday night.

Mike Goodballet, a sidewheeling righthander, came back Sunday to limit Washington to only two hits for a 7-2 victory.

IN SATURDAY'S contest, Hall missed a perfect game by walking two batters, the only runners for New Castle and only one ball was hit to the outfield.

East Liverpool, showing a lot of drive, saw Hall score the first run for the locals in the second inning. He had singled then came home on a three-base error by the centerfielder.

East Liverpool wrapped it up in the fifth inning with four - big runs featured by Goodballet's double which drove in two runs.

Four New Castle errors also aided the winners.

HALL FANNED nine batters and his teammates played errorless baseball in the field.

Sunday's game found East Liverpool falling behind 1-0 in the first inning before Goodballet settled down to hurl some excellent baseball.

Washington broke on top when Goodballet gave up his only walk of the game to shortstop John Abajace, who went to second on a single to rightfield by Chuck Scott. Abajace was safe at third when he slid on a steal and knocked the ball out of third sacker Emory Brewer's glove.

A MOMENT later Abajace scored when Goodballet uncorked a wild pitch, low and to the right of catcher Mike McVay.

It took one big inning by East Liverpool to wrap up Sunday's contest as all the scoring in the third inning came with two outs.

Brewer led off the third inning by banging a single to left field. Mighty Dan Smith was hit by the pitcher. Goodballet forced Smith at second on a ground ball to the shortstop advancing Brewer to third and Ed Golden followed with a walk to load the bases.

Mike McVay stepped up and hit a fly ball to left field but Brewer, a bit confused, failed to tag up but could have scored easily on the fly ball.

"NO-HIT" HALL then became the hero again as he smacked a hard line drive to straightaway center field driving home Brewer and Goodballet.

Phil Talbott kept the rally alive with a line shot double down the left field line clearing the bases as Golden and Hall scored.

Left handed swinging Carl Natalina drove Talbott in with the fifth run on a single to rightfield.

Yank Pinch Hitters Hurt Sooner Or Later

By The Associated Press
It's not bad enough that the New York Yankees are making a rout of the American League pennant race in their usual fashion, but now they've come up with a new gimmick: They're sending up their pinch hitters two or three times a game.

So you get him out the first time he comes up and the second or third time he kicks your head in. Unfair? Well, not quite.

Take Elston Howard and Hector Lopez. Howard went in to bat for Yogi Berra in the eighth inning of Sunday's game with the Los Angeles Angels and flied out in routine fashion. In the same inning Lopez batted for Al Downing and also flied out. No damage done. But both of them stayed in the game.

MONDAY, AUGUST 12, 1963 EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW PAGE 16

So the Angels go into the ninth with a 4-1 lead and promptly retire the first two Yankees. But the next two draw walks and Howard comes up again. So Art Fowler comes on to face him. His first pitch lands in the left-field seats and it's a tie game.

So Lopez comes up again in the 10th with a runner on second and singles up the middle, driving in the tie-breaking run. He scored a second run a few minutes later on an Angel error.

So the Yankees with 6-4, extending their winning string to six, the Angels' losing string to seven and boosted the New York first-place margin over Chicago to nine full games.

City 2-1 and Baltimore beat Washington 6-2.

The Yankee victory at Los Angeles was their 19th in 25 games and their eighth in 10 extra-inning affairs this season. Howard's dramatic shot, his 23rd homer of the season, was the turning point.

In the 10th, winning pitcher Bill Stafford led off with a scratch single and went to second on Phil Linz's sacrifice. Lopez followed with his run-scoring single and one out later scored on shortstop Jim Fregoso's error.

Don Mincher and Zoilo Versalles hit homers for the streaking Twins, and Camilo Pascual stopped Boston on five hits for his 14th victory. The Red Sox' Dick Stuart increased his league-leading home run total to 28 with a two-run shot in the sixth.

The White Sox split a pair with Detroit, the Tigers winning the first 7-2 and the White Sox the second, 3-2 on Dave Nicholson's 18th homer of the season with one out in the 11th.

Minnesota closed to within a half game of the White Sox on the strength of their sixth straight victory, a 5-2 edge over Boston while Cleveland edged Kansas

U.S. Women In Wightman Cup Victory

CLEVELAND (AP)—The United States owns the Wightman Cup for the 29th time today, but its 6-1 triumph over Great Britain's finest women tennis players was not as decisive as the score indicates.

Led by Darlene Hard, who was seeking revenge, and bouncy Billie Jean Moffitt, the American girls turned a 2-1 advantage into a rout by sweeping all four matches Sunday.

BASEBALL HEROES

BATTING — Jerry Lynch, Pirates, hit two-run homer with two out in last of ninth to give Pirates a 2-1 victory over Houston.

PITCHING — Tony Cloninger, Braves, struck out 11 Cardinals while pitching a four-hitter for eighth victory.

game hitting string, San Francisco has won 15 of its last 19. From 10 games back on July 20, the Giants now trail the Los Angeles Dodgers by only 3 1/2 games with seven weeks to go.

The fellow who was quoting odds on a Dodger-Yankee World Series when the fight mob was in Las Vegas in late July must have revised his line. The Dodgers may win it but they are no "out" bet.

The front-line Dodger pitching faltered Sunday when Cincinnati knocked out Sandy Koufax in a six-run sixth inning en route to a 9-4 victory on 16 hits.

The Giants made it three in a row over the Phillies, 5-1, on a five-hitter by Jack Sanford with ninth-inning assist from Billy Hoelt and Don Larsen.

Jerry Lynch provided the heroics at Pittsburgh with a two-run homer that gave the Pirates a 2-1 edge over Houston. Hal Brown had a 1-0 lead with two out in the ninth. Then Roberto Clemente singled and Lynch hit his 10th home run.

Tony Cloninger turned in the top pitching job by striking out 11 St. Louis Cardinals while pitching a four-hitter for the Milwaukee Braves who beat Curt Simmons 9-1. Eddie Mathews hit a three-run homer for the Braves.

Dick Ellsworth won his 16th for the Chicago Cubs in the 8-1 opener but the New York Mets bounced back with a vengeance and clobbered the Cubs 11-4 for a split of their doubleheader.

Chuck Hiller drove in three runs for the Giants, two of them with a seventh-inning homer off John Rozer, the relief man for loser Cal McLash. Mays' key double in the fifth opened up a 3-0 Giant lead.

Frank Robinson launched the big six-inning rally for Cincinnati with his 16th homer. Koufax, rolling along with a 4-1 lead at the start of the sixth, was the victim. Instead of his 19th victory, Sandy had to settle for his fifth defeat. Jim O'Toole won his 15th with help from Al Worthington. Frank Howard and Tommy Davis homered for the Dodgers and Don Pavletich and Robinson for the Reds.

Loses TKO In 7th Round

Fullmer Faces Retirement After Beating From Tiger

NEW YORK (AP)—Gene Fullmer, mauled, bruised and badly beaten in his effort to regain the world middleweight boxing title, returned to the United States to mull over the possibility of retirement.

"I have no plans for retiring and no plans for going on," Fullmer said Sunday night en route to his home in West Jordan, Utah. "I'm going home to talk it over with my family."

The 32-year-old fighting Mormon was cut and battered and drenched with his own blood Saturday before suffering a seventh-round TKO at the hands of champion Dick Tiger in Ibadan, Nigeria.

His wife, Dolores, said in West

Jordan shortly after the fight that she hoped Gene, a former champion, would call it quits. Mrs. Fullmer, who has refused to watch her husband fight, repeated that he had promised to retire if he failed to beat the Nigerian champion.

The fight, the first title bout ever held in Nigeria, was scheduled for 15 rounds but Mary Jensen, Fullmer's manager, asked that it be stopped at the end of the seventh when the bleeding Fullmer was virtually defenseless against Tiger's two-handed attack.

There were no knockdowns, but Fullmer was cut over the bridge of the nose and blinded in the later rounds by a freely bleeding cut over the right eye. His body was marked by angry, red welts and the bruises still showed on his face Sunday.

The British referee, the only official, declined to say how he had scored the fight but The Associated Press had Tiger winning every round.

The Nigerian government underwrote the bout, putting up $280,000 in guarantees. Fullmer was guaranteed $50,000 and $10,000 in expenses and Tiger 100,000.

The fight was the third between Tiger and Fullmer. Tiger lifted the title from Gene with a 15-round decision in San Francisco last year and they fought to a 15-round draw in Las Vegas earlier this year.

Dick Osborn was the losing hurler.

Osborn's had battled into the playoff finals by eliminating Colonial Grill Saturday night, 9-7.

Tom (the Bomb) Ferlano walloped two home runs and a double to lead the attack while Tony Gulutz added a roundtripper. Jim Potts homered for Colonial Grill while Bob Hedmond tripled and doubled. Dick Osborn was the winner while Jim (Big Train) Harris was checked with the loss.

E. Palestine Tops Friendly Bowl Again

East Liverpool Friendly Bowling can't seem to get past East Palestine and that was the case again Sunday when the Golden Dawn nine handed East Liverpool a 9-8 setback at Negley.

Leading 7-5 in the fifth inning, Manager John Andrasson's County-City League entry watched East Palestine score twice in the sixth inning to tie the score then score what proved to be the winning run with another pair in the seventh.

Three home runs were hit including a grand slam wallop by Hardesty which sent East Palestine into a 4-0 lead in the first inning. Troupe banged a two-run homer. Gary Berhar sparked the East Liverpool nine with a three-run roundtripper.

Hardesty also was the winning pitcher with Ensinger charged with the loss.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Monday, Aug. 12, the 224th day of 1963. There are 141 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1676 Indian King Philip—chief of the Wampanoags—was shot to death at Mount Hope, R.I., by a renegade of his own tribe. His death ended the first great war of a confederacy of Indians against white settlers of that sector.
On this date
In 1806, enraged citizens of Buenos Aires, Argentina, drove out a landing force of 1,200 British troops.
In 1916, the War Department ordered the National Guard to the Mexican border.
In 1933, Gen. Italo Balbo's aerial squadron returned to Italy after a flight to the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago.
In 1948, a Russian teacher, Mrs.

Oksana Kasenkina, leaped from the Soviet consulate in New York City to avoid deportation to her homeland.
Ten years ago... Strikes in France spread to private industry when Pres. or Joseph Laniel refused to modify economic reforms ordered by his cabinet.
Five years ago... The submarine Skate became the second U.S. nuclear-powered submarine to sail under the North Pole.
One year ago... Russia's fourth astronaut, Lt. Col. Paoel Popovich, was sent into a nearly identical orbit with that of Maj. Andrian Nikolayev, whose launching occurred a day earlier.
How Can I?

Q. How can I renovate a shrunk-in vacuum bottle cork?
A. You can usually bring these corks back to normal by boiling them in a covered pan. This sterilizes them too.

QUESTION: Why do ants raise ant cows?

ANSWER: Roger, in our picture, has discovered something fascinating—an ant farm in full operation. There are more ants than any other insect. One of the reasons for this is the ants' industry and enterprise.
An "ant cow" is an aphid, a kind of soft-bodied little insect which lives by sucking the juices from plants. The aphid produces a sweet fluid called "honeydew" and this is the "milk" the ant is after. By stroking the aphid's body an ant can make honeydew pour from tubes on the aphid's back—then the ant licks up the fluid. The ants carry their cows around and plant them in places where much honeydew may be produced; they also make ant farms near the ant nest. Ants will defend their cows from attack; sometimes they take the cows into the ant nest for the winter.
One kind of ant, having kept aphids over the winter, clears dirt from the roots of corn plants and puts the aphids on the roots to make honeydew. Considerable damage may be done to corn plants in this way.
FOR YOU TO DO: Ants are great fun to study, even if you don't have the luck to locate an ant farm. Follow an ant and try to find out what the little busy body is doing; they're generally driving hard at one project or another.
Wendy Neustrup of Hillsborough, Calif., wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you may win a set.
